EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Surfing NSW has been a leader in our network of state bodies through innovation and remains progressive in developing events, programs, systems, and partnerships to foster surfing success throughout NSW. Women's surfing is one driver that Surfing NSW aims to prioritise and grow as the peak state surfing body in NSW over the coming years.

In 2021, Surfing NSW has been a leader in the promotion of women's and girls' surfing, including creating a women's specific strategy and platform, Her Wave.

Through Her Wave, Surfing NSW has committed to providing more opportunities for women and girls through surfing, and to empower them with skills and confidence that can transfer to other domains.

Her Wave is a celebration of the many faces of women and girls surfing in NSW. They have been working to promote gender equality in all aspects of surfing and to support women and girls to overcome the challenges that prevent them from engaging with the ocean and surfing.

Under the Her Wave brand, in 2021, Surfing NSW launched the Her Wave strategy, acquired new partnerships and funding streams to stage a series of female-focused learn-to surf and leadership programs, used story-telling to promote gender equality, educated the surfing community at a Boardrider Club level and in 2022 has introduced an inaugural national first Her Wave Challenge Her Team's Classic Series in 2022.

The Her Wave platform has been awarded the 2022 NSW Her Sport Her Way Outstanding Organisation Award, it was also a category Finalist for the 2022 Australian Surfing Awards Incorporating The Hall of Fame, and the Challenge Her Team's Classic Series has been selected as a finalist in the Community Event of the year category at the 2022 NSW Community Sports Awards, winners to be announced 30th June.

Surfing has an amazing ability to connect people from all walks of life. Through Her Wave, Surfing NSW is elevating the representation of women and girls in and out of the water to create and lead the sport to be inclusive for everyone.

GRANTS PROGRAM

SURF SCHOOL PROGRAMS

Ten Surf Schools were successful in grant funding where their project was selected based on criteria and perceived impact long term in supporting and nurturing women's surfing in the community. The Surf School programs focused on reducing the physical and perceptual barriers that women and girls may encounter when learning to surf. The Grants Program made Surf Schools think outside the box to modify or incorporate new elements to lessons ensure the needs and motivations of women and girls were addressed, to create an unforgettable experience and keep participants surfing for a lifetime. This opportunity allowed Surf Schools with no existing womens program to develop lessons that catered to women's needs and all of these surf schools have now made this womens program a permanent offering at the surf school.

BOARDRIDER CLUB PROGRAMS

Ten Boardrider Clubs were successful in grants funding where their project was selected based on criteria and perceived impact long term in supporting and nurturing women's retention and supported a female surfing culture in the club. The successful programs focused on nurturing current female club members and introducing initiatives that welcomed new females into the club community.

The Grants Program empowered and inspired more members to progress their surfing skills and provided opportunities to develop their skills. Other projects focused on connecting with new recreational surfers and providing opportunities to join their club. Some provided competition training and judging clinics to educate non competitive surfers on how a club rounds work.

This opportunity allowed Boardrider Clubs to increase their women's divisions, created new all female boardrider clubs, upskilled current members in officiating positions, and introduced divisions that cater to all levels of female surfers.
